All questions and comments relating to the operation of this sale or to its content should be addressed to Morton & Eden Ltd. and not to Sotheby’s.
Important Information for Buyers

All lots are offered subject to Morton & Eden Ltd.’s Conditions of Business and to reserves.

Estimates are published as a guide only and are subject to review. The actual hammer price of a lot may well be higher or lower than the range of figures given and there are no fixed “starting prices”.

A Buyer’s Premium of 15% is applicable to all lots in this sale. Excepting lots sold under Temporary Import rules which are marked with the symbol ‡ (see below), the Buyer’s Premium is subject to VAT at the standard rate (currently 17¾%). Unless otherwise indicated, lots are offered for sale under the auctioneer’s margin scheme and VAT on the Buyer’s Premium is payable by all buyers.

‡ Lots marked with this symbol have been imported from outside the European Union (EU) to be sold at auction under Temporary Import Rules. When released to buyers within the EU, including the UK, the buyer will become the importer and must pay import VAT at the rate of 5% on the hammer price in addition to the normal 17.5% on the Buyer’s Premium. Buyers outside the EU will not be required to pay temporary import VAT provided that satisfactory documentary evidence of exportation is obtained. Please note that this information has been updated to reflect changes in UK legislation introduced on 1 September 2006.

Morton & Eden Ltd. will be pleased to execute bids on behalf of those clients unable to attend the sale in person, subject to our Conditions of Business. All bids must be submitted in good time in writing and lots will always be purchased as cheaply as possible (depending on any other bids received, reserves and competition in the saleroom). This service is offered free of charge.

Morton & Eden Ltd. can supply quotations for the shipping of purchases, including transit insurance and VAT refund administration fees, and will assist in the application for any export licences which may be required. Buyers are reminded that it is their responsibility to comply with UK export regulations and with any local import requirements.

*Illustrated lots are marked with an asterisk. Additional images of some items may be available online.

Payment Instructions

Payment is due in sterling at the conclusion of the sale and before purchases can be released. Please note that we require seven days to clear sterling cheques unless special arrangements have been made in advance of the sale.

We are pleased to accept major credit cards, for which there will be a 3% surcharge on the transaction total. There is no surcharge for payments made by UK debit card.

All overseas buyers are encouraged to make payment in sterling by electronic transfer direct to our Bank, quoting the invoice number:

A Group of Orders, Medals and Decorations awarded to the Lebanese Diplomat and Politician

IZZET SAID KHOURCHID

IZZET SAID KHOURCHID was born on 3 October 1895 in Damascus, Syria, the third son of Said Khoubourid, a ballistics instructor at the Military Academy and subsequently a General in the Ottoman Army. He was educated at the University of Istanbul and received a degree in Chemistry. Following the assassination of his elder brother As’sad, who was the equivalent of the Minister of the Interior under the French Mandate in Syria in 1922, he decided to follow in his footsteps in the service of the infant Lebanese Republic.

He became Chief of Police in 1945 and in 1952 was appointed Director General of the Ministry of Communications, a post which he held until 1955. In 1949 he was additionally made Provisional Director of Protocol at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs with the rank of Plenipotentiary Minister, a post which was formalised in 1956 and which he continued to hold until his death in 1973.

As well as pursuing a diplomatic career he was a pioneer in Arab journalism, especially in the field of political cartoons. He was also a much sought-after advertising draftsman as well as a calligraphy expert for the Lebanese courts. His surviving brother Kheireddine founded the Turkish public radio service between the late 1920s and early 1930s.

Orders awarded to Sir Alexander Condie Stephen (1850-1908)

SIR ALEXANDER CONDIE STEPHEN was educated at Rugby and entered the Diplomatic Service in 1876. His first overseas posting was as attaché to the Embassy at St. Petersburg. He was later employed as Third Secretary at Constantinople and Acting Consul-General in Eastern Roumelia. An excellent linguist, he became fluent in Russian, Turkish and Persian and was employed on a special mission to inquire into conditions in Khurasan during 1882-83.

In 1884-85 he was employed on the staff of Sir Peter Lumsden as an Assistant Commissioner for the delimitation of the Russo-Afghan Frontier. It was at this time that the Pendjeh Incident, which came close to involving a war with Russia, took place. Lumsden entrusted Condie Stephen with a vital despatch for the British Government, involving a journey on horseback through Persia, across the Caspian, through Russian territory, and then from Germany to London. At an average of 70 miles per day the journey took from 23 April until 12 May but the safe delivery of the despatches cast a new light on the question at issue and helped to ensure that war was averted.

Subsequently Sir Alexander became Acting Agent and Consul General in Bulgaria, Second Secretary at Vienna and Paris, Chargé d’ Affaires in Coburg, and Minister-Resident in Dresden. In 1901 he returned from Germany and became Groom-in-Waiting to Edward VII, his linguistic skills being of immense value during Royal State Visits. He was attached to the Suite of the Dowager Empress of Russia during her visit and was personally decorated by her with the Order of St. Stanislaus on behalf of Nicholas II (for which see our 13 June 2008 catalogue, lot 1460).

Croix de Guerre avec Palme: Arrêté de S.A.R. le Prince Régent, 25.4.1950, no. 7014:

“Membre de l’Armée Secrète, assura les fonctions d’agent de liaison. Dans la nuit du 8 au 9 septembre 1944, ayant surpris la mission confiée à un groupe de S.S., parvint, grâce à son courage et à son sang-froid, à sauver de la capture, une vingtaine de résistants”.

The lot is offered with substantial documentation, including original award documents for the Civic Medal, War Medal and Bronze Cross of the Union des Fraternelles de L’Armée Secrète. Certificats de Bonne Conduite, Vie et Moeurs (2), both dated 29 June 1946, original identity documents, and certified manuscript copies made in the 1950s of citations, correspondence etc., one letter being from one Paula Oreschowska–Goldberg attesting to the fact that the recipient and her husband saved herself and her child from the Gestapo in 1942.

Also included is the recipient’s own five-page handwritten account of the events of 8-9 September 1944 in and around the village of Vlessart, where a group of maquisards, of the Robert brigade from Habay, had been staying since 3 September. Mme. Waeterinckx, having been woken at 3.30 am by a German officer checking that the village was indeed Vlessart, went without hesitation to warn the members of the Resistance who were sheltering at a house on the outskirts of the opposite side of the village. Most escaped in time although one man, Jules Thiry, was captured and it became known to the Germans that a woman had raised the alarm. On returning towards her own home Mme Waeterinckx found that the Germans were arriving in force; feigning nonchalance she went to the Curé’s house in order to warn him, and the local Resistance representative who lodged with him, of the situation. She pretended successfully to be a member of the Curé’s household, answering questions at gunpoint and coolly playing the rôle of a servant as the Germans commandeered rooms for themselves. She subsequently obtained permission to leave the house on the pretext of fetching milk, eliciting in the process the name of the German officer in charge, and later still was able to make contact with her husband who had fortunately hidden successfully; earlier gunfire had left both of them fearing for the other’s safety.

Although four men – Jules Thiry, Leon Bodarwé (?), Edmond Hinckx and Albert Matheu were summarily condemned and executed by the Germans, Mme. Waeterinckx herself estimated that 52 men were saved by her prompt action. Furthermore she believed that the Resistance group, who had posted sentries and would not therefore have been taken completely by surprise, would have engaged the Germans in the event of a direct confrontation. This, in turn, may well have led to the destruction of the entire village.

"Delegation of Denmark, April 13th", 1864.

My Lord, I have the honour, by order of my government, to inform your Excellency that it has pleased H.M. the King of Denmark to grant Captain Cook, master of the vessel "Hope" of Lowestoft... a gold medal, as a reward for his gallant and humane conduct in rescuing the crew of the Danish schooner "Kirshine" of Londerhoe on the 6th December last year with great risk to himself, and in attending most carefully to their wants in every respect, for which he refused to accept any compensation in money.

I beg to enclose the Gold Medal, and request your Excellency to cause it to be forwarded to Captain Cook, for whose acknowledgement I would be obliged.

I have the honour to be, etc.

The Battle of Cape St. Vincent, 14th February 1797

After some early successes, notably the battle of the Glorious First of June (1794), the war with Revolutionary France and her allies was not going well for Great Britain as 1796 drew to a close. A Franco-Spanish expedition to Ireland was being prepared and the large but undermanned Spanish fleet was ordered to join its French counterpart already making for Brest. The Spaniards, under Admiral de Cordova, put to sea from Cartagena with twenty-seven ships-of-the-line in company with twelve frigates only to find Admiral Sir John Jervis lying in wait for them off Cape St. Vincent. On 13th February Jervis was joined by Commodore Nelson's squadron and, the following day, he brought the enemy to action in what proved a landmark victory despite the numerical superiority of Cordova's fleet. Aided by Nelson's tactical brilliance at a crucial moment in the battle, Jervis decimated the Spanish fleet and forced the remnants to withdraw to Cadiz. Jervis's flagship H.M.S. Victory emerged triumphant from the action and it was also the first occasion on which Nelson distinguished himself as a commander; eight years thence both ship and man would achieve their immortality.

Brenet, head left, rev., Victory hurling lightning at two stricken Spanish men-o'war, 41mm (B.H.M. 438; Hardy ---; Milford Haven 452), two tiny cuts in reverse rim, otherwise extremely fine £60-80

Thanksgiving for Naval Victories, 19th December 1797, in copper, unattributed, laureate head of George III right, rev., seven-line inscription, 33mm (B.H.M. 442; Hardy ---; Milford Haven ---; Dalton & Hamer, Middlesex, 197), with traces of original lustre; and a similar medal Celebrating the British Victories, 1797-1809, in copper, by W.S. Mossop, bust of George III right, rev., Fame, kneeling, and inscribing victories upon a column, L (for 1810) below, 43mm (B.H.M. 700; Hardy ---; Milford Haven 563), both good very fine (2) £150-200

The National Thanksgiving service, for the first three great victories of the War with Revolutionary France (the Glorious First of June', St. Vincent & Camperdown), took place at St. Paul's Cathedral in the presence of King George III and the Royal Family.

The Battle of the Nile, 1st August 1798

The French Flagship L'Orient exploding at the Battle of the Nile (after Thomas Hellyer)

The victory at the Nile was the highly positive outcome of the unsuccessful attempt to stop Napoleon's invasion of Egypt which Nelson spent most of the summer of 1798 trying to prevent. Cruising the eastern Mediterranean in an attempt to locate Admiral Bruey's Toulon fleet, Nelson eventually arrived off Alexandria and, in the early afternoon of 1st August, sighted the French fleet at anchor in Aboukir Bay, about 15 miles to the west. Bruey had chosen a strong position in a well-protected bay; additionally, the French ships had larger and heavier guns even though the number of vessels was roughly equal on both sides. Conversely, Nelson had the advantage of surprise and when he realised that the enemy's ships were not cleared for action on their landward sides, he gave orders to attack. It was already six o'clock in the evening by the time Nelson's fleet had crossed the bay and, with only two hours of daylight remaining, the enemy was as amazed as Nelson's own captains by his daring. Outgunned and unprepared for an action they believed would not come until the next morning, the French were decisively defeated and their fleet in the Mediterranean was virtually annihilated.

It was the greatest naval victory to date in an age of notable successes at sea, and it brought Nelson the adulation of his country and the undying admiration of his fellow officers.
Alexander Davison’s medal for the Nile, 1st August 1798, in silver, by C.H. Küchler, Bace standing upon the shore supporting an oval medallion portraying Nelson, rev., the Fleet sailing into Aboukir Bay to attack the French, ALMIGHTY GOD HAS BLESSED HIS MAJESTY’S ARMS on a scroll above, lettered edge impressed A TRIBUTE OF REGARD etc., 47mm (B.H.M. 447; Hardy 5; Milford Haven 482; B.B.M. 26; illard 15), surface marked and thus clearly an issued example, very fine and rare £800-1,200

Examples of this medal in silver were presented to all officers apart from Captains and those of flag rank who received them in gold. It is also, arguably, the very first British campaign medal in the accepted sense, in that one was presented to every man, regardless of rank, present at the battle. The reverse legend is the opening phrase of Nelson’s historic despatch sent home to the Admiralty with news of the victory.

*Alexander Davison’s medal for the Nile, 1st August 1798, in copper-gilt, by C.H. Küchler, Bace standing upon the shore supporting an oval medallion portraying Nelson, rev., the Fleet sailing into Aboukir Bay to attack the French, ALMIGHTY GOD HAS BLESSED HIS MAJESTY’S ARMS on a scroll above, lettered edge impressed A TRIBUTE OF REGARD etc., 47mm (B.H.M. 447; Hardy 5; Milford Haven 482; B.B.M. 26; illard 15), prooflike and, apart from a faint hairline scratch in the ‘sky’ of the reverse, practically mint state, a superb early striking and very rare thus £1,500-2,000

Examples of this medal in copper-gilt were presented to all Petty Officers in the fleet although the relatively large numbers available in commerce suggest that many extant specimens were originally issued in copper and gilded by their recipients to enhance them.

Alexander Davison’s medal for the Nile, 1st August 1798, in bronzed-copper, by C.H. Küchler, Bace standing upon the shore supporting an oval medallion portraying Nelson, rev., the Fleet sailing into Aboukir Bay to attack the French, ALMIGHTY GOD HAS BLESSED HIS MAJESTY’S ARMS on a scroll above, lettered edge impressed A TRIBUTE OF REGARD etc., 47mm (B.H.M. 447; Hardy 5; Milford Haven 482; B.B.M. 26; illard 15), several light abrasions in the ‘sky’ of the reverse, otherwise extremely fine and of good colour £400-450

Examples of this medal in bronzed-copper were presented to all ratings and marines.

Battle of the Nile, 1798, in bronze, by J.G. Hancock & Kempson, uniformed bust three-quarters left, rev., Nilus, the river god, reclinining left and watching the battle in progress, 49mm (B.H.M. 448; Hardy 5 Milford Haven 475), about extremely fine, the reverse showing the usual die flaws, albeit at an early stage £200-250

*Battle of the Nile, 1798, in white metal, by J.G. Hancock & Kempson, uniformed bust three-quarters left, rev., Nilus, the river god, reclinining left and watching the battle in progress, 49mm (B.H.M. 448; Hardy 5 Milford Haven 475), some verdigris but good very fine and scarce thus, the reverse showing the usual die flaws at a more advanced stage than the preceding lot £150-180

Battle of the Nile, 1798, in copper, unattributed, uniformed bust of Nelson three-quarters right, rev., three vessels in action, 38mm (B.H.M. 452; Hardy 10; Milford Haven 476), very fine £150-200

*Battle of the Nile, 1798, in white metal, unattributed, uniformed bust of Nelson three-quarters right, rev., three vessels in action, 38mm (B.H.M. 452; Hardy 10; Milford Haven 476), obverse field scuffed but extremely fine, reverse better £150-200

*Battle of the Nile, 1798, in white metal, unattributed, uniformed bust of Nelson right, rev., Neptune striking a seahorse with his trident, 34mm (B.H.M. ---; Hardy 13; Milford Haven 481), some cabinet wear to the high points and one small edge bruise, otherwise about extremely fine and extremely rare £150-200

Despite published statements to the contrary, these apparent medalets are extremely rare and very seldom seen in commerce.

Battle of the Nile, 1798, in brass, unattributed, uniformed bust of Nelson right, rev., Neptune striking a seahorse with his trident, 34mm (B.H.M. ---; Hardy 13; Milford Haven 481), strictly only fine but extremely rare £100-120

*Triumphal Entry of Ferdinand IV into Rome, 1798, in silver, by Thomas Wyon Snr., Religion, seated before a pyramid and holding an oval medallion portraying Napoleon, beside a lion and a harp, rev., a British shield upon an anchor with intertwined ribbon inscribed and dated Nov. 29, 38mm (B.H.M. 450 & vol. III, pp. 233 & 277; Hardy 8R 3; Milford Haven 484), extremely fine and dark-toned, extremely rare £250-300

Despite the fact that Milford Haven identifies the date (29th November [798] on this medal as being that on which one (of several) thanksgiving services for the victory at the Nile was held at St. Bu’s Cath edral, modern research by Laurence Brown now suggests that the medal marks the day on which Ferdinand IV of Naples entered Rome which, coincidentally, was also the same day that he declared war on France. Traditionally identified by most experts as simply a celebration of the victory at the Nile, it is now time for this medal to be reassessed as a more unusual commemorative within the Nelson series.
227 Triumphal Entry of Ferdinand IV into Rome, 1798, in copper, by Thomas Wyon Snr., Religion, seated before a pyramid and holding an oval medallion portraying Nelson, beside a lion and a harp, rev., a British shield upon an anchor with intertwined ribbon inscribed and dated Nov. 29, 38mm (B.H.M. 450 & vol. III, pp. 233 & 277; Hardy 8R1; Milford Haven 484), extremely fine £100-120

228 Triumphal Entry of Ferdinand IV into Rome, 1798, in white metal, by Thomas Wyon Snr., Religion, seated before a pyramid and holding an oval medallion portraying Nelson, beside a lion and a harp, rev., a British shield upon an anchor with intertwined ribbon inscribed and dated Nov. 29, 38mm (B.H.M. 450 & vol. III, pp. 233 & 277; Hardy 8R2; Milford Haven 484), scuffed both sides but good very fine £80-100

229 Ferdinand IV re-established as King at Naples, 1799, in copper-gilt, by C.H. Küchler, uncrowned bust of Ferdinand IV right, rev., H.M.S. Foudroyant, Nelson’s flagship, arriving in Naples Bay to prepare for the restoration of Ferdinand IV, with Fame flying above bearing an oval portrait of Nelson, 48mm (B.H.M. 479; Hardy 21; Milford Haven 489), scuffed, particularly on the reverse, but very fine and very rare when gilt £450-550

It is often suggested that Nelson brought the King back to Naples aboard Foudroyant but this is incorrect; Nelson arrived off the city in late June whilst the King himself did not return until 10th July. Because of civil unrest ashore, he then based himself aboard Nelson’s flagship for about four weeks prior to reoccupying his palace, and it was during this month afloat that Nelson was offered and accepted the Dukedom of Bronte from his guest.

230 Ferdinand IV re-established as King at Naples, 1799, in copper, by C.H. Küchler, uncrowned bust of Ferdinand IV right, rev., H.M.S. Foudroyant, Nelson’s flagship, arriving in Naples Bay to prepare for the restoration of Ferdinand IV, with Fame flying above bearing an oval portrait of Nelson, 48mm (B.H.M. 479; Hardy 21; Milford Haven 489), mint state, with some traces of original lustre, in coppered-tin ‘shells’ as issued, very rare thus £400-450

The exceptional condition of this example enables the minute detail of the superb reverse panorama of the city of Naples and its bay to be seen to best advantage.

231 Ferdinand IV re-established as King at Naples, 1799, in bronzed-copper, by C.H. Küchler, uncrowned bust of Ferdinand IV right, rev., H.M.S. Foudroyant, Nelson’s flagship, arriving in Naples Bay to prepare for the restoration of Ferdinand IV, with Fame flying above bearing an oval portrait of Nelson, 48mm (B.H.M. 479; Hardy 21; Milford Haven 489), scuffed but good very fine, with dark-chocolate toning £200-250

232 Ferdinand IV re-established as King at Naples, 1799, in copper, after C.H. Küchler, [unfamiliar] uniformed bust of Nelson left, with related inscription, rev., H.M.S. Foudroyant entering Naples Bay etc., as the three preceding lots, 48mm (B.H.M. 479A; Hardy 21; Milford Haven rev. 489/obv. 494), extremely fine and an attractive colour, undoubtedly a restrike but an early one without any of the usual signs of rusty dies, very rare £1,000-1,200

Only one other copper example of this medallion, bearing the so-called ‘rejected’ bust of Nelson, has been seen in commerce in recent years [Spink Medals, 23rd November, 2006, lot 374] but that was clearly a very modern striking of somewhat unpleasant colour, probably one of those issued by John Pinches in 1966.

This relatively unfamiliar bust of Nelson was one of several preparatory portraits commissioned by Matthew Boulton for his laudatory medal commemorating the great victory at Trafalgar but rejected by Lady Hamilton as not a good enough likeness. For full details of the selection process for the adopted medal, see J.G. Pollard, Matthew Boulton and Conrad Heinrich Küchler, Numismatic Chronicle, 1970, pp. 303-09, No. 30 & plate XXIII, no. 5.

233 Earl Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty, 1799 (2), in copper and white metal, by Thomas Wyon, Snr., bust of Spencer left, rev., Victory standing by rudder and anchor, and blowing a trumpet, 38mm (B.H.M. 471; Hardy 471; Milford Haven 551), very fine or better (2) £100-120

George, 2nd Earl Spencer (1758-1834), was made First Lord of the Admiralty by Prime Minister Pitt in 1794 and, under his direction, naval administration was much improved helping to ensure the victories at both St. Vincent and Camperdown. A great supporter of Nelson, Spencer was also responsible for sending the former on the campaign which resulted in the even greater victory at the Nile in 1798.

234 Lord Nelson’s Return Home [after the Nile and his prolonged sojourn in Naples with Lady Hamilton], 5th November 1800, in copper, by Thomas Halliday, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., Britannia standing upon the shore welcoming an approaching ship, 38mm (B.H.M. 490; Hardy 22; Milford Haven 490), some light scuffs but extremely fine and rare in copper £100-120
The Battle of Copenhagen, 2nd April 1801

Nelson as second-in-command to Admiral Sir Hyde Parker, a fleet was sent to the Baltic early in 1801 following Denmark’s decision to join the ‘Armed Neutrality’ against British interests. Parker’s orders were to capture or destroy the Danish fleet lying off Copenhagen and he conveyed his outline strategy to Nelson well in advance. Nelson, however, had his own more radical ideas for the assault and, on the evening of 1st April 1801, entertained his officers to discuss the plan he had formulated with his flag-captain Thomas Foley. Nelson had christened Foley and those other veterans of the Nile his ‘Band of Brothers’ and their personal loyalty to him was unflinching. Together they agreed what had to be done to secure victory and battle was joined the next morning shortly before 10 o’clock.

It began well but the Danes were in a strong position; British losses mounted alarmingly and, at about 1.00pm, Hyde Parker signalled H.M.S. Elephant, Nelson’s flagship, to discontinue the engagement. In one of the most famous gestures in the long history of the Royal Navy, Nelson placed his telescope to his blind eye, turned to Foley and said, ‘I really do not see the signal!’ The battle duly continued and, after prolonged fighting, a ceasefire was eventually agreed aboard Elephant in the late afternoon. It was a costly British victory won only by Nelson’s perseverance; that he was encouraged by Foley and the ‘Band of Brothers’ is certain and the ultimate success of the plan served only to bind Nelson and his officers more closely together in readiness for the final encounter at Trafalgar.

Battle of Copenhagen, 2nd April 1801, in white metal, unattributed, Justice upon a rock with large oval medallions of Nelson and Admial Sir Hyde Parker, rev., panoramic view of the Ore Sound at Copenhagen, with the battle in progress and the city beyond, 38mm (B.H.M. 510; Hardy 23; Milford Haven 491), scuffed but good very fine and rare £120-150

In the absence of any official recognition of the victory in the form of a gold medal, and with the exception of the small medalets which form part of various sets (for which see lots 251-252 in this catalogue), the medal offered above represents the only British commemorative for Copenhagen.

236
Battle of Copenhagen, 2nd April 1801 [Danish medal], in silver, by D.F. Loos, Justice seated and handing a sword to a Roman warrior, rev., the same warrior fighting a five-headed sea monster, 39mm (B.H.M. ---; Hardy 28; Milford Haven, vol. II, 374; Bergsøe 32), about extremely fine, toned and rare £250-300

237
Battle of Copenhagen, 2nd April 1801 [Danish medal], in bronze, by D.F. Loos, similar to the last, 40mm (B.H.M. ---; Hardy 28; Milford Haven, vol. II, 374; Bergsøe 32), struck on a thick flan, extremely fine and extremely rare £200-300

Hardy gives a rarity of R? for this medal in both silver and bronze; examples in bronze are however virtually unobtainable in commerce.

238
Battle of Copenhagen and the Manning of the Blockships, April 1801 [Danish medal], in silver, by D.F. Loos, seated female figure holding a musket and gesturing with a laurel wreath towards the battle scene off Copenhagen, EN BORGER KRANDS (A citizen’s reward) above, rev., seven-line inscription which translates as “To the 3rd Jys Infantry Regiment’s valiant warriors of the 2nd of April’, 36mm (B.H.M. ---; Hardy 31 but only listed in bronze; Milford Haven, vol. II, 377), very fine and excessively rare £300-400

The fact that Nelson concluded this battle with a ‘flag of truce’ meant that, in Danish eyes at least, it was not viewed as a defeat; hence the various Danish medals to commemorate the event.
The Battle of Trafalgar, 21st October 1805

Nelson’s celebrated strategy to break the Franco-Spanish line-of-battle in two places when he was finally able to bring the enemy to action off Cape Trafalgar on 21st October, 1805 was to win him the greatest victory in the long history of war at sea. It was not achieved without loss however, and its most serious disadvantage was that his own flagship Victory and those vessels immediately astern of her were subjected to a withering fire for over half-an-hour before they were able to reply. Suffering heavy casualties as a result, it was not until nearly 12.30pm. that Victory finally struck the enemy line between Bucentaure (Villeneuve’s flagship) and Rédoubtable, closely followed by H.M.S. Téméraire and H.M.S. Neptune, at which point the battle began in earnest.

The struggle between Victory and Rédoubtable was an unequal one as the French vessel had only 74-guns against Victory’s 100, but nevertheless she fought tenaciously. Despite the pounding from Victory’s starboard broadsides and the terrible casualties piling up on Rédoubtable’s decks, high up in her fighting tops French sharpshooters patiently awaited their opportunities. At about 1.15pm. a sniper in Rédoubtable’s mizzen top seized his chance, aimed and fired at the slightly-built officer on Victory’s quarter-deck who seemed to be issuing commands. It was indeed Nelson and the wound proved to be fatal; carried below, he died there three hours later albeit comforted by the news that the battle was won. Nelson’s death overshadowed the greater victory but French and Spanish seapower was smashed and the threat of invasion which had long hung over England was finally lifted.

The outpouring of national grief once the news of Nelson’s death reached England was as remarkable as it was unprecedented. It resulted in the issue of a plethora of medallions and other commemoratives on a previously unimaginable scale.

239
Matthew Boulton’s medal for Trafalgar, 21st October 1805, in silver, by C.H. Küchler, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., the two British columns breaking the enemy line-of-battle at the commencement of the action, lettered edge impressed TO THE HEROES OF TRAFALGAR etc., 48mm (B.H.M. 584; Hardy 40; Milford Haven 493; B.B.M. 31), small nick in ‘sky’ of reverse field and sometime lightly polished, otherwise good very fine and an excellent early striking, with deeply impressed edge inscription £1,200-1,500

240
Matthew Boulton’s medal for Trafalgar, 21st October 1805, in bronze-gilt, by C.H. Küchler, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., the two British columns breaking the enemy line-of-battle at the commencement of the action, lettered edge impressed TO THE HEROES OF TRAFALGAR etc., 48mm (B.H.M. 584; Hardy 40; Milford Haven 493; B.B.M. 31), the rather dull gilding a little thin on the high points of the bust and some light scuffing both sides, otherwise about extremely fine and very rare £900-1,100
Matthew Boulton’s medal for Trafalgar, 21st October 1805, in bronzed copper, by C.H. Köhler, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., the two British columns breaking the enemy line-of-battle at the commencement of the action, lettered edge impressed TO THE HEROES OF TRAFALGAR etc., 48mm (B.H.M. 584; Hardy 40; Milford Haven 493; B.B.M. 31), essentially mint state, in original coppered-tin 'shells' as issued, extremely rare thus and sold with a contemporary paper inscribed Battle of Trafalgar in a fine running script £1,000-1,500

Matthew Boulton’s medal for Trafalgar, 21st October 1805, in bronzed copper, by C.H. Köhler, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., the two British columns breaking the enemy line-of-battle at the commencement of the action, lettered edge impressed TO THE HEROES OF TRAFALGAR etc., 48mm (B.H.M. 584; Hardy 40; Milford Haven 493; B.B.M. 31), fitted with contemporary loop for suspension and currently hung from a length of old dark-blue ribbon, about extremely fine £600-800

Matthew Boulton’s medal for Trafalgar, 21st October 1805, in white metal, by C.H. Köhler, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., the two British columns breaking the enemy line-of-battle at the commencement of the action, lettered edge impressed TO THE HEROES OF TRAFALGAR etc., 48mm (B.H.M. 584; Hardy 40; Milford Haven 493; B.B.M. 31), brilliant mint state, in original tin 'shells' as issued, extremely rare thus £1,000-1,500

Matthew Boulton’s medal for Trafalgar, 21st October 1805, in white metal, as issued, by C.H. Köhler, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., the two British columns breaking the enemy line-of-battle at the commencement of the action, lettered edge impressed TO THE HEROES OF TRAFALGAR etc., 48mm (B.H.M. 584; Hardy 40; Milford Haven 493; B.B.M. 31), strictly very fine but clearly an issued example (in 1806) and surprisingly scarce thus £400-600

In an attempt to emulate Alexander Davison’s splendid gesture of issuing a medal to the men of the fleet after the battle of the Nile, Matthew Boulton – who had, of course, manufactured Davison’s medals for him in 1798 – decided to do the same after the even greater victory at Trafalgar. Despite many printed references to the contrary, Boulton’s medals were however only “issued” in one metal - pewter (or white metal), and then only to “surviving seamen and marines”. They were not presented to any officers, and all those strikings in other metals were done either to satisfy individual requests – usually from disgruntled officers who felt they should have received one by right” – or to satisfy collectors at later dates throughout the nineteenth century and beyond. By far the best account of these arrangements was written by David Vice (for Format of Birmingham’s List, No. 55) and was subsequently reproduced in Medal News, May 1997, pp. 20-22.

Matthew Boulton’s medal for Trafalgar, 21st October 1805, mule, in silver, unadopted uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., as the regular issue, edge plain, 48mm (B.H.M. 584A; Hardy 40 var.; Milford Haven rev. 493/obv. 494), clearly a later striking, with some evidence of rusty dies, but significantly better and thus much earlier than the Pinches restrikes of 1966 (for an example of which, see lot 290 in this catalogue), several light rim scratches but otherwise good extremely fine and nicely toned, very rare £1,000-1,500

This relatively unfamiliar bust of Nelson was one of several preparatory portraits commissioned by Matthew Boulton for his laudatory medal commemorating the great victory at Trafalgar but rejected by Lady Hamilton as not a good enough likeness. For full details of the selection process for the adopted medal, see J.G. Pollard, Matthew Boulton and Conrad Heinrich Küchler, Numismatic Chronicle, 1970, pp. 303-09, No. 30 & plate XI, no. 5.

Matthew Boulton’s medal for Trafalgar, 21st October 1805, mule, in bronzed-copper, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., as the regular issue, edge plain, 48mm (B.H.M. 584A; Hardy 40 var.; Milford Haven rev. 493/obv. 494), a later striking, with some evidence of rusty dies, but good very fine and very rare £400-600

Matthew Boulton’s medal for Trafalgar, 21st October 1805, in silver, a reverse cliché depicting the issued design of the fleets in action etc., 48mm (cf. B.H.M. 484; Hardy 40; Milford Haven 493; B.B.M. 31), struck from rusty dies but clearly of some age and almost certainly nineteenth century, perhaps struck for insertion into a commemorative box (?), very fine and interesting £250-300

Although this medal has always been, by tradition, associated with Alexander Davison, no references to it have been found within the extensive Davison archives. Although analogous to Boulton’s Trafalgar medal, it is much rarer and is believed to have been awarded only to those who served aboard H.M.S. Victory at Trafalgar.

Dr. Turton’s medal for Trafalgar, 21st October 1805, in silver, by Thomas Wyon, Snr., bare-headed uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., the two British columns approaching the enemy line-of-battle before the commencement of the action, 45mm (B.H.M. 586; Hardy 43; Milford Haven 496), test-cut on edge and one or two marks in the fields of both sides but good very fine and lightly toned, very rare £1,500-2,000

Dr. William Turton (1735-1806), a wealthy physician, commissioned and distributed these medals at his own expense as a personal tribute to Nelson whom he had greatly admired.
250  Dr. Turton’s medal for Trafalgar, 21st October 1805, in bronze, by Thomas Wyon, Snr., bare-headed uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., the two British columns approaching the enemy line-of-battle before the commencement of the action, 45mm (B.H.M. 586; Hardy 43; Milford Haven 496), extremely fine and toned, very rare £400-600

251  Nelson’s Victories, a set of four medalets, in silver, produced circa 1805, unattributed, each with uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev. all different, for St. Vincent, Aboukir, Copenhagen & Trafalgar, with details in six-line inscriptions, 20mm (B.H.M. 592 – individually 437, 454, 511 & 591; Hardy 3, 12, 24 & 49; Milford Haven 514-17), good very fine and toned, contained in a contemporary circular silver box, hallmarked for Birmingham, 1799, maker’s mark IT, very rare as a boxed set (5) £1,000-1,500

Intriguingly, the only other comparable mule – albeit for Aboukir yet with another different obverse – known to the cataloguer has only recently been published in Baldwin’s Auction catalogue, No. 56, 7th May 2008 (part lot 3045).

252  Admiral Lord Collingwood and the battle of Trafalgar, 1805, in silver, unattributed, uniformed bust of Collingwood three-quarters left, rev., view of the two British columns approaching the enemy line-of-battle before the commencement of the action, 38mm (B.H.M. 593; Hardy 55; Milford Haven 558), obverse good very fine but a little stained in the field, reverse extremely fine, extremely rare in this metal £400-500

254  Admiral Lord Collingwood and the battle of Trafalgar, 1805, in bronze, unattributed, uniformed bust of Collingwood three-quarters left, rev., view of the two British columns approaching the enemy line-of-battle before the commencement of the action, 38mm (B.H.M. 593; Hardy 55; Milford Haven 558), several minor nicks on obverse but extremely fine and rare, with attractive chocolate toning £200-250

255  Admiral Lord Collingwood and the battle of Trafalgar, 1805, in white metal, unattributed, uniformed bust of Collingwood three-quarters left, rev., view of the two British columns approaching the enemy line-of-battle before the commencement of the action, 38mm (B.H.M. 593; Hardy 55; Milford Haven 558), old test mark(?) at 6 o’clock but good very fine and scarce £150-200

256  Death of Nelson, 1805, in silver, by Abraham Abramson, uniformed bust right, rev., a rostral column decorated with anchors, 40mm (B.H.M. 574; Hardy 59; Milford Haven 497), a few light surface marks but about extremely fine and toned, very rare £300-350

257  Death of Nelson, 1805, in white metal, by Peter Wyon, bust of Nelson within an oval on an obelisk rising above a catafalque, rev., Britannia weeping beside a funeral urn, 51mm (B.H.M. 579; Hardy 65; Milford Haven 512), good very fine and a pleasing example of a medal notoriously difficult to obtain in outstanding condition £200-250

258  Death of Nelson, 1805 (2), in bronze and white metal, unattributed, uniformed bust left, rev., three-line Latin inscription within wreath of palm and laurel, 38mm (B.H.M. 581; Hardy 67; Milford Haven 505), the first with marks on Nelson’s cheek but otherwise nearly extremely fine, the second very fine but scuffed (2) £150-200

259  Death of Nelson, 1805, in white metal, unattributed, Victory, holding an oval medallion of Nelson, standing upon the prow of a galley, rev., same three-line Latin inscription as the preceding lot, 38mm (B.H.M. 582; Hardy 68; Milford Haven 506), extremely fine, with much original brilliance £100-120

260  Death of Nelson, 1805, in silver, by Thomas Webb, after John Flaxman, bare head of Nelson left in high relief, rev., Bellona stepping across the waves towards war galleys, 53mm (B.H.M. 577; Hardy 63; Milford Haven 507), one or two extremely trivial marks and a slight edge bruise at 6 o’clock but otherwise practically mint state, attractively toned and the bust with an almost matt-like finish, extremely rare in this metal £600-800

261  Death of Nelson, 1805, in bronze-gilt, by Thomas Webb, after John Flaxman, bare head of Nelson left in high relief, rev., Bellona stepping across the waves towards war galleys, 53mm (B.H.M. 577; Hardy 63; Milford Haven 507), a few scuffs but about extremely fine, loose-mounted in a gilt frame with loop for suspension £400-500

262  Death of Nelson, 1805, in bronze, by Thomas Webb, after John Flaxman, bare head of Nelson left in high relief, rev., Bellona stepping across the waves towards war galleys, 53mm (B.H.M. 577; Hardy 63; Milford Haven 507), practically mint state, scarce thus £300-400
263

Death of Nelson, 1805, in white metal, by Thomas Webb, after John Flaxman, bare head of Nelson left in high relief, rev., Bellona stepping across the waves towards war galleys, 53mm (B.H.M. 577; Hardy 63; Milford Haven 507), struck on a flan with bevelled edges (so that the rims are not fully struck up), a few minor blemishes but extremely fine and rare in this metal £250-300

Ex James O’Byrne Collection, part II, Christie’s, 10th July 1962 (part lot 123).

264

Memorial to Nelson, in silver, for Mudie’s series of National Medals [1820], by G. Mills & N. Brenet, uniformed bust threequarters left, rev., Bellona standing upon the prow of a galley and hurling a thunderbolt, 41mm (B.H.M. 595; Hardy 87; Milford Haven 518), choice extremely fine, the obverse dark-toned, very rare in this metal £600-800

265

Memorial to Nelson, in light bronze, for Mudie’s series of National Medals [1820], by G. Mills & N. Brenet, uniformed bust threequarters left, rev., Bellona standing upon the prow of a galley and hurling a thunderbolt, 41mm (B.H.M. 595; Hardy 87; Milford Haven 518), a few marks on the high points of Nelson’s face, lightly scuffed but otherwise extremely fine £120-150

266

Memorial to Nelson, in dark (patinated) bronze, for Mudie’s series of National Medals [1820], by G. Mills & N. Brenet, uniformed bust threequarters left, rev., Bellona standing upon the prow of a galley and hurling a thunderbolt, 41mm (B.H.M. 595; Hardy 87; Milford Haven 518), a small nick and the start of a die flaw in reverse field near Bellona’s thunderbolt, otherwise extremely fine £120-150

267

Memorial to Nelson, in white metal, for Mudie’s series of National Medals [1820], by G. Mills & N. Brenet, uniformed bust threequarters left, rev., Bellona standing upon the prow of a galley and hurling a thunderbolt, 41mm (B.H.M. 595; Hardy 87; Milford Haven 518), lightly scuffed and with the die flaw visible on the preceding lot more pronounced, otherwise extremely fine and unrecorded in this metal, very rare £100-150

268

Memorial to Nelson, in bronze, for Mudie’s series of National Medals [1820], by G. Mills & N. Brenet, unadopted classical head left, rev., as before, 41mm (B.H.M. 596; Hardy 88; Milford Haven 520), a little dusty but good extremely fine and rare £150-200

It is presumed that this obverse type was prepared for but was subsequently rejected by Mudie for his National Medal No. 6, the Memorial to Lord Nelson.

269

Nelsonic Crimson Oakes Society, Founded 1808, in silver, unattributed, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., pseudo-masonic symbols overall, NELSONIC CRIMSON OAKES above, 54mm (B.H.M. 640; Hardy 85; Milford Haven 526), pierced as usual for suspension, good very fine and toned, rare £250-300

Apparently a Friendly or Benevolent Society for sailors, little else is known about the Nelsonic Crimson Oakes except that it “appears” to have been dissolved in 1827; neither its name nor the Masonic symbolism of its medals has ever been satisfactorily explained. The National Maritime Museum, repeated in his book by Thomas Hardy, has suggested that the artist may have been Benedetto Pistrucci but this has recently been dismissed by one eminent cataloguer as ‘a flight of fancy’.

270

Memorial to Nelson, 1806, rectangular silver plaque, repoussé, by Peter Wyon, wreathed head of Nelson left upon an altar, Fame to the left, with a crocodile at her feet, Britannia mourning to the right, a lion beside her and the (named) stern of H.M.S. Victory beyond, faintly signed P Wyon F. to lower right, 77mm wide x 44mm high (B.H.M. ---; Hardy 70; Milford Haven ---; A.H. Baldwin’s Commemorative Medal List, 1994, no. 410, this piece), extremely fine and excessively rare, the only known example and possibly a unique “trial” for the finished snuffboxes (see notes below)

£2,000-2,500

This beautiful if somewhat enigmatic piece was created by Peter Wyon for a London silversmith with the mark WP (thought to be William Parker, who had been apprenticed to Thomas Phipps) to decorate the lids of silver-gilt snuffboxes which the latter was producing to immortalise Nelson. Whether these boxes were commissioned by a wealthy admirer of Nelson to distribute amongst his own friends (and possibly those of Nelson as well), or whether William Parker (?) made them as a commercial speculation, is unknown. What seems certain is that only a very small number is likely to have been made since only two, or possibly three, examples are known today – one held in the Lily McCarthy Collection housed in the Royal Naval Museum at Portsmouth, and another in the private collection of a Nelson aficionado (this probably ex Messrs. Duke’s auction, 17-18 August 2006, lot 265). As both extant boxes are hallmarked for 1805-06, it appears that Wyon was asked for his design immediately after Nelson’s death and that the boxes followed soon afterwards. They would have represented an expensive memento of Nelson compared to most others being promoted at the time, a further reason to suppose that few were made originally and that they are now very rare indeed.

For the Lily McCarthy snuffbox, see Remembering Nelson, A Record of the Lily Lambert McCarthy Collection at the Royal Naval Museum, England, privately published 1995, p.122, no. 98 (illustrated). See also inside back cover illustration (enlarged).

Unveiling of the Nelson Monument in Birmingham, 1809, in bronze, by Peter Wyon, view of the monument, namely a full-length statue on a column upon a stepped plinth, rev., five-line inscription within wreath, 52mm (B.H.M. 678; Hardy 80; Milford Haven 535), good very fine £150-200

272

Greenwich Hospital School, Prize Medal, 1838, in silver, by Halfhide, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., engraved to John Lash, 36mm (B.H.M. ---; Hardy 90; Milford Haven ---), extremely fine and a very rare early issue, in circular fitted case of issue £250-300

Greenwich Hospital School was founded in 1712 and amalgamated with the Royal Naval Asylum in 1821. It is not known when the school’s first prize medals were awarded but the cataloguer knows of no earlier example than the one offered here dated 1838.
273
Greenwich Hospital School, Prize Medal, 1838, in gilt brass, identical to the preceding lot but unissued and perhaps a trial striking(?), 36mm (B.H.M. ---; Hardy 90; Milford Haven ---), gilding a little worn but very fine and interesting £40-60

274
Greenwich Hospital School, Prize Medal, 1847, in silver, unattributed, head of Nelson left, rev., struck legend, engraved to John R. Fowell, 1847, 27mm (B.H.M. ---; Hardy ---; Milford Haven 525), pierced and with suspension ring, about extremely fine £80-120

275
Greenwich Hospital School, Prize Medal for Attainments & Good Conduct, 1868, in silver, unattributed, head of Nelson left, rev., struck legend, engraved to J.G. Leyton, 1868, 41mm (B.H.M. ---; Hardy ---; Milford Haven 528), with silver clip and loop for suspension, extremely fine £150-200

276
Shipwrecked Fishermen & Mariners' Benevolent Society, Cases Relieved, 1839, in silver, by J. Davis (of Birmingham), uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., multi-line inscription detailing the 7,017 cases relieved (in 1839), 43mm (B.H.M. 2110; Hardy 92; Milford Haven 864); 1844 Subscription, in white metal, by J. Davis, obverse as the last, rev., subscription details, 43mm (B.H.M. 2110 var.; Hardy 93 var.; Milford Haven ---); Subscription Ticket, 1882, in white metal, by J. Stokes, uniformed bust of Nelson left as before, No. --- in the field, rev., a wrecked ship, 32mm (B.H.M. 2575; Hardy 94; Milford Haven 865), top edge cut out as issued for ribbon; together with a white metal striking of the S.F. & M.B. Society's silver medal for lifesaving first awarded in 1851, 36mm (cf. Milford Haven 863), good very fine and better, an interesting group of Nelson-related medallions (4) £100-150

277

278

279
Erection of Nelson’s Column, 1843, in white metal, by J. Taylor, for W. Griffin, uniformed bust of Nelson threequarters left, rev., view of the completed column etc. but with Nelson’s victories inscribed below the upper legend, 44mm (B.H.M. 2126; Hardy 96; Milford Haven 530 var.), the tip of the hero’s nose flat, otherwise extremely fine and scarce £100-120

280
Erection of Nelson’s Column, 1843, in white metal, unattributed, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., view of the completed column, the concentric legend including the names of Nelson’s victories, 26mm (B.H.M. 2127; Hardy 100 [although he wrongly lists the size as 44mm.]); Milford Haven 533), *pierced but very fine and scarce; together with bronze medals (2), comprising Liverpool Seamen’s Friend Society, by Vaughton, 38mm (B.H.M. 1064; Hardy 89; Milford Haven 852), choice extremely fine, and Portsmouth Navy Week, undated but 1905 (Hardy 124), both this and the previous medal feature Nelson and H.M.S. Victory, the last pierced but very fine (3) £80-100

Nelson Testimonial Medal, 1844, in white metal, by E. Avem, the design adapted from J. Davis’s medal of 1843 for the erection of Nelson’s Column, uniformed bust of Nelson left within Garter bearing the legend of Nelson’s signal before Trafalgar, rev., view of Trafalgar Square and Nelson’s Column, TO COMMEMORATE THE OPENING OF THE NELSON TESTIMONIAL, TRAFALGAR SQUI., in exergue 21 October 1844, 61mm (B.H.M. ---; Hardy 97; Milford Haven 531), pierced at 12 o’clock for suspension as usual and with numerous shallow edge cuts on obverse, otherwise very fine or better, the high relief portrait particularly clear, a pleasing example overall and extremely rare £1,500-2,000

These Testimonial Medals were presented to 357 Greenwich Pensioners who had served at Nelson’s four major actions, St. Vincent (39), Nile (35), Copenhagen (45) and Trafalgar (238), along with a gratuity of ten shillings, at a ceremony at the Royal Greenwich Hospital on 2nd April 1845. The funds for the awards were supplied by the Testimonial Committee of the Parishioners of St. Martin’s-in-the-Fields, who had originally intended to use the funds for a special ceremony on the completion of the Column (at the time known as ‘Nelson’s Testimonial’) on 1st - 2nd November 1843, at which a number of the pensioners were to be present. This had to be cancelled due to inclement weather and then a second public ceremony, to be held on the Queen’s birthday, 24th May 1844, was also cancelled due to the entertainments of local tradesmen.

Captain Douglas-Morris knew of only one Testimonial Medal paired with a Naval General Service, and of less than ten single medals. For further information, see his Naval Medals 1793-1856, pp. 49-53, and Spink Medal auction catalogue, 11th May 2001 (lot 529), from where it is clear that very few of these medals – despite the number apparently issued – seem to have survived. See also back cover illustration (enlarged).

Nelson’s Foudroyant Wrecked, 1897, in surviving ship’s copper, by the Birmingham Mint, for Robert Fletcher of Blackpool, uniformed bust of Nelson threequarters left and wearing cocked hat, rev., port quarter view of Foudroyant at anchor, 38mm (B.H.M. 3613; Hardy 107; Milford Haven 537), *good extremely fine, with traces of original lustre; and the only other medal for the same event, in brass (filled), by H. Grueber, port view of Foudroyant at anchor, somewhat similar to the preceding medal, rev., the dismasted Foudroyant wallowing in heavy seas off Blackpool Sands, 38mm (B.H.M. 3612; Hardy 108; Milford Haven ---), *good very fine and surprisingly rare; and a copper bolt from the Foudroyant fashioned into a small circular medalet, 16mm., very fine and very rare (3) £120-150

Despite the statements in both Brown (B.H.M.) and Hardy’s books that the artist of the second Foudroyant medal is unknown, the example offered here is clearly signed H. Grueber, London on the reverse and his entry in Forrer’s Dictionary of Medallists confirms that all Grueber’s productions were “made in papier mâché covered with a shell struck in thin metal.” Furthermore, this medal’s significant rarity in commerce suggests that it is nowhere near as common as has previously been believed.
The Trafalgar Centenary of 1905
and other 20th Century Commemoratives

"In October [1905] the Centenary of the Battle of Trafalgar and the death of Nelson will be celebrated throughout the country with no ordinary feelings. Trafalgar remains the greatest naval event in European history, and it stands for our national existence, as its victorious Admiral is our national hero."

Extract from T.P.'s Weekly, one of the most popular papers of the Edwardian era.

283
The Trafalgar Centenary, 1905, in silver, by Spink, an attractive reduced-size version of Boulton's Trafalgar medal, uniformed bust of Nelson left, hallmarked for 1905 on the truncation, rev., the fleets in action, CENTENARY OF THE BATTLE OF TRAFALGAR in the sky above, plain edge, 32mm (B.H.M. 3923; Hardy 110; Milford Haven 538A), extremely fine and toned £100-150

284
The Trafalgar Centenary, 1905, in bronze-gilt, by Spink, an attractive reduced-size version of Boulton's Trafalgar medal, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., the fleets in action, CENTENARY OF THE BATTLE OF TRAFALGAR in the sky above, edge plain but stamped 'bronze', 32mm (B.H.M. 3923; Hardy 110; Milford Haven 538A), extremely fine and toned, in Spink fitted case of issue £100-150

285
The Trafalgar Centenary, 1905, in white metal, by Spink, an attractive reduced-size version of Boulton's Trafalgar medal, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., the fleets in action, CENTENARY OF THE BATTLE OF TRAFALGAR in the sky above, edge plain, 32mm (B.H.M. 3923; Hardy 110; Milford Haven 538A), extremely fine, with much original brilliance £40-60

286
The Trafalgar Centenary, 1905, in Victory copper, a group of Nelson-related medals and badges etc. (8), all produced by the British and Foreign Sailors' Society to raise funds, comprising circular medals (2), 29mm (B.H.M. 3924; Hardy 112; Milford Haven 538); watch-chain fobs (2 – Hardy 111 & 117, 3), the second in card box of issue; pendant medalets, 16.5mm (2 – Hardy 116 & 117), and a third with George V obverse (Hardy p.77); and a Victory brooch (Hardy 122); together with a Victory - Foudroyant copper cross, circa 1915 (Hardy 133), mostly extremely fine or better, the last two very rare and excessively difficult to obtain (9) £150-200

The penultimate item in this lot, the Victory brooch, was designed for "Girls of the Empire" and no other example is known to the cataloguer.

The Victory - Foudroyant Cross was also intended as a fund-raising item albeit to aid the Great War Effort in 1915.

287
The Trafalgar Centenary, 1905, in white metal, unattributed, circular perpetual calendar in medal form, uniformed bust of Nelson left, rev., calendar inscribed with years (1904-25) and the days of the week, with revolving outer plate inscribed with months and instructions for use, 38mm (Hardy 129), good very fine and rare; together with a supposed Admiralty Messengers' badge, in silvered-brass, with central standing figure of Nelson, 48mm high (Hardy 208), extremely fine and scarce; and a gilt-brass calendar medal for 1805, by Kempson & Kindon of Birmingham, 39mm, very fine and interesting (3) £80-120

288
Sesquicentenary of Trafalgar, 1955, in silver (no. 11) and bronze, by Paul Vincze, for Spink, uniformed bust left, rev., Neptune rising from the sea holding wreath and sceptre, 58mm (B.H.M. 4464; Hardy 147), both with matt surfaces, extremely fine or better, the first in fitted case of issue (2) £100-150

As far as is known, the above medals by Spink were the only commemorative medallions produced anywhere for the 150th Anniversary of Trafalgar.

Restrikes by John Pinches Ltd., 1966

289
Matthew Boulton's medal for Trafalgar, 1805, in silver, uniformed bust left, rev., the fleets in action etc., edge plain but hallmarked for 1966 and numbered '41', 48mm (cf. B.H.M. 584; Hardy 149), nick in reverse 'sky' but otherwise practically as struck and attractively toned £150-200

290
Matthew Boulton's medal for Trafalgar, 1805, in silver, with the unadopted uniformed bust left, rev., the fleets in action etc., edge plain, 48mm (cf. B.H.M. 584A; Hardy 149 var), practically mint state and attractively toned, rare £250-300

291
Dr. Turton's medal for Trafalgar, 1805, in silver, uniformed bust right, rev., the fleets in action, etc., edge plain but hallmarked for 1966 and numbered 'No. 29', 45mm (cf. B.H.M. 586; Hardy 150), practically mint state £200-250

All the preceding three lots were restruck, from the original dies, by John Pinches Ltd. in 1966. Literature states that 2,500 examples of each were planned but their general scarcity in commerce strongly suggests that far fewer were actually struck and sold.

*British Fleet, Prize Firing - Blue Jacket Medal - Heavy Gun, 1900-03, in silver, by J.N. Masters of Rye, uniformed bust of Nelson threequarters facing, legend ENGLAND EXPECTS EVERY MAN etc. around, rev., gun crew with breech-loading gun, 48mm, edge engraved W.J. PRIMMER, with elaborate bar reading PRIZE CREW and top brooch engraved H.M.S. GOOD HOPE, 1903 (Hardy 142; Sandwich M18), good extremely fine and excessively rare, only six believed awarded; sold with a contemporary related news clipping £700-1,000

In an attempt to improve the standards of British naval gunnery, Captain (later Admiral Sir) Percy Scott, during his command of the massive armoured cruiser Terrible, commissioned these shooting prizes from his own design. First awarded to two gun crews from his own ship Terrible – the winners of the 1900 Prize firing competition – they continued to be awarded until 1903 after which they were discontinued following the introduction of the Admiralty's own Naval Good Shooting Medal. For a full account of the background, see the notes to Hardy 142, pp. 142-43.

Admiral Sir Percy Scott (1853-1924) became the doyen of naval gunnery and was responsible for numerous improvements to gunnery throughout the fleet, some of which had profound implications later in his career, during the Great War.

H.M.S. Terrible is familiar to all medal enthusiasts for the rôle her men – along with those from her sister-ship H.M.S. Powerful – played in the naval brigades employed ashore in both the Boer War and the so-called Boxer Rebellion in China in 1900.

H.M.S. Good Hope, another armoured cruiser, also earned her place in naval history when, as flagship to Rear-Admiral Cradock, she was sunk in action at the battle of Coronel on 1st November 1914 with the loss of all 900 hands.

*British Fleet, Prize Firing - Blue Jacket Medal - Heavy Gun, 1900-03, in bronze, by J.N. An old pint ofa prtrait photograp ofJa ck Phillip w another Marconi Wireless Oprator, showing the two full-length uniformed figures in relaxed pose smoking beside a ship’s lifeboat, reverse inscribed Jack Phillips on left Lost on Titanic, very fine condition (£150-250)

JOHN GEORGE (Jack) Phillips, Titanic’s Chief Radio Officer, was released together with his colleagues at 2.10 am under the every man for himself rule. The Captain is reported to have told them you can go now boys. you’ve done your job well? The R/Os joined a group preparing to launch the collapsible lifeboats but Phillips did not survive. Most some controversy persists regarding the precise details of his fate, he perished from hypothermia on or near collapsible lifeboat B.

It is likely that this photograph was taken during Phillips’ service aboard the Adriatic in 1911 and it has been suggested that the second figure may be his friend Harold Cottam (1891-1984), who was shortly to become the Carpathia’s R/O and the counterpart to Phillips (and his second Officer, Harold Bride) as events unfolded during the night of 14/15 April 1912.

Ex Christie’s South Kensington, 14 April 1992, lot 23.

Original Nesprr Suprmet: The Daily Graphic Special Titanic In Memoriam Number “dated 20 April 1912, 20pp, profusely illustrated in black-and-white, aged but in fine condition overall; together with a souvenir brass-bodied pocket knife, length 75mm, good very fine (£250-350)

A R.M.S. Carpathia Letter Card sent by A.M. Baggott, dated Thursday Apr 18, signed Allen, addressed to Mr. R.J. Buck, commencing Dear Dad… and containing news of his survival: ‘but of the 110 stewards we had in the 8 Saloon alone only 5 of us were saved.‘We were picked up at Sam by the Carpathia outward to Gibraltar etc. ‘also including the comment ‘There were not sufficient boats to accommodate more than were saved.’ with U.S. 1c stamp postmarked NEW BRK 11 MAR 18 1912; the pre-printed blue letter card with vignette of the Carpathia and title On Board the C MARD R.M.S. C ARPATHIA, some wear and discolouration, in fine condition overall (£500-700)

ALLEN MARDON BAGGOTT was born in London on 13 April 1884 and joined the Titanic on 10 April 1912. A former Chief Steward he had recently served aboard the Oceanic (which, according to the present letter, he had been intending to rejoin after the Titanic voyage). He was one of 56 occupants of lifeboat 9, which had a capacity of 5 and was lowered from the starboard stern at around 1.20 am on the fateful morning of 15 April.

Roll confirms; entitled to clasp for Lucknow.
Indian Mutiny 1857-59, 1 clasp, Delhi (Thos. Sawyer 6th Dragn. Gds.), harshly cleaned, about very fine £240-280

Thomas Sawyer enlisted with the 7th Hussars at Hull on 27 November 1854 before transferring to the 6th Dragon. In April 1857 the Regiment arrived in India and Sawyer participated in the battles on the Hindon River, Meerut and Alipur, and also at the Siege of Delhi. In April 1858 he took part in the actions at Kukrauli and the assault on Bareilly prior to the Regiment's return to England in 1861. In 1865 they were posted to Ireland and Sawyer died at Clonmel, 10 April 1867.

*Indian Mutiny 1857-59, 1 clasp, Defence of Lucknow, Indian Army impressed (James Doyle Horse Artillery.), with contemporary ribbon buckle, good very fine £300-400

The clasp is not verified. Although a James Doyle of the Madras Horse Artillery appears on the roll, his entitlement is listed as a medal without clasp.

*Indian Mutiny 1857-59, 1 clasp, Central India (2nd Lieut. F. H. Thompson, C Cty. 4th Bn. Madras Art.), good very fine £350-400

Francis Henry Thompson enlisted in the Madras Artillery as a 2nd Lieutenant on 8 June 1854. He served with the Sauger Field Division under Major-General Whitlock from 24 November 1857, was present at the battle of Banda, 19 April 1858, and also took part in the Relief of Kirwee and the action on the heights of Punwarre, 29 December 1858. Khedive’s Sudan 1896-98, 1 clasp, Khartoum, engraved in upright capitals (Lieut 21 Lancers), good very fine or better, mounted in a brass display frame with 21st Lancers badge and engraved with the recipient's name (5) £2,000-3,000

Mentioned in Lord Kitchener’s Despatches: London Gazette: 9 December 1898: “Recent operations in the Sudan.”

The following is taken from Winston Churchill, The River War: an Historical Account of the Reconquest of the Sudan:

“The signalling officer, Lieutenant Clerk [Lieut. C. J. Clerk, 21st Lancers], was set to heliograph back to the Sirdar that the ridge was unoccupied and that several thousand Dervishes could be seen flying into Omdurman. Pending the answer, we waited; and looking back northwards, across the front of the zeniba, I perceived, where the first attack had been stopped, a greyish-white smudge, perhaps a mile long. The glass disclosed details - hundreds of tiny white figures heaped or scattered; dozens hopping, crawling, staggering away; a few horses standing stolidly among the corpses; a few unwounded men dragging off their comrades. The skirmishers among the rocks of Surgham soon began to fire at the regiment, and we sheltered among the mounds of sand, while a couple of troops replied with their carbines. Then the heliograph in the zeniba began to talk in flashes of light that opened and shut capriciously. The actual order is important. “Advance,” said the helio, “and clear the left flank, and use every effort to prevent the enemy re-entering Omdurman.” That was all, but it was sufficient. In the distance the enemy could be seen re-entering Omdurman in hundreds. There was no room for doubt. They must be stopped, and incidentally these small parties in the plain might be brushed away.”

A Boer War and Long Service and Good Conduct Pair awarded to Ship’s Corporal James Dyer, Royal Navy, comprising Queen’s South Africa 1899-1902, no clasp (J. Dyer. Ld. Smn. H.M.S. CHARLES MITCHELL attested on 12 August 1892. He was absent without leave between 10 July and 4 August 1894, was tried by Court Martial for desertion and loss of kit and sentenced to 112 days imprisonment, with stoppages, and all former service credit being forfeit. In India between 1894 and 1899, he served during the Relief of Chitral Expedition, Punjab Frontier Disturbances and Tirah Expedition (medal and 3 clasps). He arrived in South Africa in the autumn of 1899. On 28 December 1899 he was tried by Field General Court Martial for using insubordinate language to his superior officer and was sentenced to field imprisonment for 84 days; his sentence was, however, remitted on 3 February 1900. On 27 July 1900 he received 14 days imprisonment by the commanding officer for being drunk on active service. On 29 October 1900 he went absent without leave, was again tried by Field General Court Martial and again sentenced to 14 days imprisonment, although this appears to have been his last brush with the military authorities. He remained in South Africa until September 1902 and is additionally entitled to the King’s Medal with 2 clasps. He was discharged on completion of his period of engagement in August, 1906.

ALEXANDER SMOKER was born on 5 December 1865. He joined the Royal Scots Fusiliers and in due course became R.S.M. In 1908, at the comparatively young age of 43, he became a Yeoman Warder and was promoted in 1918 to Chief Warder, a position he was to hold for almost 25 years (thus becoming the longest-serving Chief Warder ever in the Tower's long and illustrious history). His period of office embraced the beginning of the Second World War, the last time the Tower was used as a prison and as a place of execution (of the German spy Josef Jacobs, in August 1941).

On 16 April 1941, during the Ceremony of the Keys when the escort of four Guardsmen, the Chief Warder and Watchmen were approaching the Middle Tower, the shriek of a falling bomb was heard. So enormous was the force of the explosion that the party members were swept off their feet and dispersed. Smoker, the first to recover, shouted somewhat testily "Where's everybody? Come on - we must finish the job." Fortunately no casualties were incurred; the party reassembled and the task of locking the gates was duly completed. Smoker died in Guy's Hospital on 6 April 1943; a memorial tablet was erected in his honour in the Chapel Royal of St. Peter, H.M. Tower of London, and was dedicated on 16 October 1949.

The lot is offered with the following items all relating to Alexander Smoker:

Original case for the M.B.E.; Warrant for the M.B.E. dated 23 June 1936, and invitation to the Investiture, 14 July 1936; an extract of the Address given at the unveiling and dedication of the memorial tablet to Smoker at the Chapel Royal of St. Peter, H.M. Tower of London, 16 October 1949; a photograph of the Memorial; a Tower of London Official Souvenir Album with Chief Warder Smoker depicted on the cover (see illustration above); a postcard from the Tower depicting Smoker and the Yeoman Jailer; a souvenir book of the Crown Jewels and Coronation Chair (Westminster Press, March 1937); a copy of H. Plunkett Woodgate, "Things Seen in The Tower of London", London 1928, with presentation inscription to the Warders dated April 1938; and various facsimile newspapers

Ex Sotheby’s auction, 28 June 1990, lot 334.

CATHERINE EMILY PINE (1864-1941) commenced her nursing career at St. Bartholomew’s Hospital and qualified as a Matron prior to setting up a nursing home in Pembroke Gardens, London. She became associated with the Women’s Social and Political Union and in October 1909, when Mrs Pankhurst’s son was rushed to the nursing home, a long and active relationship ensued (Harry Pankhurst was suffering from infantile paralysis and would undergo lengthy treatment before suffering a premature death).

She rapidly emerged as a leading devotee of Emmeline Pankhurst and was instrumental in assisting her daughters Christabel and Sylvia to escape from the clutches of the law. On 5 March 1912 the police arrived at Christabel’s offices with a warrant for her arrest but were persuaded that, as a result of a tip-off, she had already fled. In fact Christabel had made her way to Pine’s nursing home and obtained a nurse’s uniform for disguise. Thus attired, she was smuggled to the flat of a W.S.P.U. member and thence to France. The following month her sister Sylvia returned to London from the United States and was also able to evade arrest. She joined Christabel in Paris, arriving in yet another “borrowed” nurse’s uniform.

By the outbreak of the Great War, Catherine Pine had become an integral part of the Pankhurst clan, known by the family sobriquet of ‘Aunt Kate’. Mrs. Pankhurst, no doubt aware that far more important matters now occupied the Nation’s time, decided to adopt four ‘war babies’. ‘Aunt Kate’ helped to bring them up in the Pankhurst’s home in Clarendon Road, Holland Park.

After the War she stayed on to continue those duties as well as maintaining the smooth running of the household. By 1922, Christabel had converted to a form of rigidly fundamentalist Christianity and this gave rise to a certain amount of good-natured conflict. Catherine Pine remained impervious to her gloomy logic, often resorting to irreverent jokes which ran along the lines that “If the Second Advent was liable to come at any moment, it was hardly worthwhile educating the children or cooking dinner”. In any event she remained in the employment of the family even after Mrs. Pankhurst’s death in 1928, and won great admiration from many of those associated with the broader Suffragette Movement.
By the beginning of 1912, the Women's Suffrage movement had suffered a series of disappointments, not least with the defeat of three Conciliation Bills in 1910, 1911 and 1912 which would have given voting rights to certain categories of women. Each defeat was followed by militant action and so it was with the scuppering of the 3rd Conciliation Bill in March 1912. Tension was also heightened because of the outrage felt at the treatment of Suffragette prisoners. A regulation called Rule 243A had been introduced by Winston Churchill in March 1910 and was intended, in the main, to ameliorate prison conditions for Suffragettes in the hope that this would discourage hunger strikes and demands that Suffragettes should be given the status of political prisoners. However, it did not have the desired effect. In June 1912, further concessions were made when the leaders of the WSPU were accorded better prison conditions, but this did not apply to most Suffragette prisoners. Both Emmeline Pankhurst and Emmeline Pethick-Lawrence went on prison hunger strike in protest against this unequal treatment and inevitably this led to the force-feeding of these two WSPU leading figures.

It was in these volatile conditions that Marie Neill, a member of the Women's Social and Political Union (WSPU), had her first serious brush with authority. She was involved in a campaign of window-breaking and other protests in June 1912. At the beginning of July, she was tried with breaking three plate glass windows at the Parkhurst Road Post Office in London and sentenced to four months imprisonment. During her period of imprisonment she was forcibly fed. The horror of this barbaric practice of forcibly feeding hunger striking women, usually through a tube inserted into the mouth or throat, was recorded in Marie's own words in a statement she gave on her release from Holloway on 12 September 1912 after serving 2 months and 2 days of her sentence:

"I was sent to Holloway on July 10 and was put into hospital until Monday, July 15. Then Miss Walters and I were put into DX Ward, and on requesting to be told why we were not given the conditions of Rule 243A, we were told we could petition the Home Secretary.

We did so on Thursday, 14th, but received no answer, so on the 18th Miss Walters, Miss Duval and I began a Hunger Strike. On Sunday they forcibly fed us - Miss Walters by tube. On Tuesday they had to release her. They fed Miss Duval in the same manner but owing to some obstruction in my throat or nasal tube they had to content themselves by feeding by cup in my case. After Miss Walters' release I could not endure to know that Miss Duval was still suffering twice a day the torture of the forcible feeding and I implored her to give up the Hunger Strike, especially as her mother was also ill in Birmingham Gaol. She refused unless I did, so I gave it up.

I was sent back to hospital. Then I steadily lost weight, and, my throat being very troublesome, the doctor advised me to petition the Home Secretary again. As no answer had been given to the first petition, I signed another: it was lying signed on September 12, but had not been sent, when the order for my release came.

I was allowed a visitor once every seven weeks in hospital, I am glad to be out, to work more determinedly than ever for the Cause".

In pursuit of this objective it was not long before Marie again came to Police attention. The WSPU had agreed to a truce as far as militant activity was concerned whilst the Franchise Reform Bill was being debated in Parliament at the end of January 1913. Lloyd George and Edward Grey had put forward a proposed women's suffrage amendment to the Bill. However, the Speaker of the House of Commons eventually announced that such an amendment would change the bill so significantly that it would have to be reintroduced as a new bill. On 28 January 1913, the inimitable Mrs Flora Drummond led a demonstration from the Agricultural Hall to demand an interview with the Chancellor of the Exchequer. The interview was refused and the WSPU newspaper 'Votes for Women' records that the 'women were treated with violence by the police'. Mrs Drummond was knocked down and slightly injured; many shop and Government office windows were broken. Several women were taken into custody including Marie Neill. When she appeared before Magistrates next day she was again charged with window breaking and fined 40 shillings and ordered to pay £2 damages or to one month imprisonment. In common with most WSPU women she refused to pay the fine and damages. Before being taken to prison, she took the opportunity to tell the Court that she had been protesting against the disgusting behaviour meted to Mrs Drummond 'a working woman' for trying to see Lloyd George. 'Lloyd George is paid by us women and as a paid servant should meet those who employ him'. She then went on to serve her sentence in Holloway.

As a result of the anger and disappointment arising from the abandonment of the Franchise Reform Bill, Mrs Pankhurst 'declared war' and so a period of substantially enhanced WSPU civil disobedience began.

We are most grateful to Diana Birch for her generous assistance in the cataloguing of this lot.

Life Saving Medal of the Order of St. John type 2, in bronze (Ernest Godden 9th July 1903);
Royal Humane Society Medal, unsuccessful issue, in bronze (Ernest Godden. Nov. 27. 1902), first with traces of verdigris on obverse, very fine (2) £300-400

Life Saving Medal of the Order of St. John:
"For great bravery displayed at Booth's Cement Works near Rochester (Borstal), on 27th November 1902, in endeavouring to rescue three men overcome by poisonous fumes in a lime kiln at which they were working. Their efforts were highly commended by the coroner at a subsequent inquest". (Four bronze medals were awarded for the incident).

Royal Humane Society Medal: Case 32424:
"On the 27th November 1902 at the Borstal Cement Works Rochester". (One silver and three bronze medals were awarded for the incident).

435 A Hulton Colliery Disaster Group awarded to Fred Smith (later a Royal Artillery Driver), Four:
Bolton and District Humane Society Medal for the Hulton Colliery Disaster December 21 1910, by Jenkins and Sons of Birmingham;
Lancashire and Cheshire Coal Owners Rescue Station silver medal (Fred Smith), with an additional riband bearing clasp Hulton 1911;
British War and Victory Medals (2673 Dvr. F. Smith R.A.), generally extremely fine, the first two in cases of issue; offered with two lapel badges of the Cheshire Coal Owners Rescue Station and of Manchester Colliery Limited (lot) £400-600

The Hulton Colliery was situated in Westhoughton, Lancashire. Disaster occurred on 21 December 1910 when a massive explosion occurred in No. 3 Bank (Pretoria) pit. Although this killed a number of miners instantly the majority perished later from carbon monoxide poisoning; in all a total of 344 people died and only three survived (one of these succumbing to pneumonia shortly afterwards). It was the third worst mining disaster ever to have occurred in Great Britain.

Despite the obvious danger many volunteered to go underground to assist in rescue attempts. The bravery of these rescuers was recognised by the Bolton and District Humane Society, who specially commissioned this medal and presented it to 150 recipients. The disaster aroused immense sympathy throughout Britain and a relief fund was set up by the Mayor of Bolton for the dependents of those killed which realised £145,000 (the equivalent in modern terms of approximately £10 million).

London Gazette: 27 June 1944:

"Those named below have been commended for brave conduct. When an aircraft crashed and caught fire:-George Scutt, Tractor Driver, Duncton Hill, Petworth, Sussex."

On February 13 1944 Lancaster DV 382.J, piloted by Squadron Leader Suggitt, 617 Squadron, had landed at Ford following a raid on the Antheor Viaduct. When returning to base at Woodhall Spa the aircraft crashed into Waltham Down, Petworth and caught fire. All the crew and passengers, with the exception of Squadron Leader Suggitt, were killed instantly; he died later at St Richard’s Hospital Chichester without regaining consciousness. One member of the National Fire Service, a local farmer and three farm workers (including George Scutt) went to the aid of the plane and each received the King's Commendation.

Offered with original Commendation certificate, forwarding letters, registered envelope for forwarding the badge and laurel leaves, and a letter from the Air Council dated 26 June 1944.

A Fine Second World War and Post War Air Force Cross and Distinguished Flying Medal Group awarded to Squadron Leader Michael Gregory Gardiner, R.A.F., who also received a King's Commendation for Valuable Service in the Air, Seven:

King’s Commendation for Valuable Service in the Air, London Gazette: 2 June 1943.

MICHAEL GREGORY GARDINER joined the R.A.F. in May 1937 and qualified as an Air Gunner with 215 Squadron on 4 January 1939. On 10 February of the same year he qualified as a Wireless Operator with 75 Squadron. In August 1940 he was transferred to 99 Squadron, and in January 1941 he was posted to 7 Squadron.

In November 1941, after flying 53 missions, he was transferred to 1425 Communications Flight and in October 1942 to 511 (Transport) Squadron, where he remained until December 1943. During this period he carried many distinguished passengers, including Winston Churchill, H.R.H. The Duke of Gloucester, Field Marshals Alan Brooke and Alexander, General De Gaulle, and Generals Ismay and Ritchie. He was then posted to 525 Squadron before moving to 1332 H.C.U., and in November 1944 he was promoted to Chief Signals Leader; in June 1945 he was posted to 232 Squadron. In May 1946 he transferred to 1359 (V.I.P.) Flight, 24 Squadron, where he remained until 1950. Further V.I.P. passengers during this period included Lieutenant General Freyburg, V.C., Clement Atlee, Ernest Bevin, Field Marshals Montgomery, Slim and Wavell, Winston Churchill, Lord and Lady Mountbatten and Lord Tedder. In 1954 he was promoted Squadron Leader.

The lot is offered with related miniatures, riband bars (one with oak leaf for Mention in Despatches), epaulette, collar flashes, photographs (including one in a group with Field Marshal Montgomery), two congratulatory letters (on the award of the A.F.C. and on promotion to Squadron Leader), and two detailed log books with entries from 13 February 1939–18 June 1954.

An Italian Front Monte Cassino Military Cross Group awarded to Captain Richard George Corser, Royal Artillery, Eight:
Military Cross, George VI, reverse dated 1945;
1939-45 Star, Africa Star with 8th Army clasp, Italy Star and France and Germany Star;
Defence and War Medals;
Territorial Decoration, George VI, reverse dated 1950, extremely fine, with case of issue for the Territorial Decoration and with loose oak leaf for Mention in Despatches (8) £1,000-1,200

Military Cross: London Gazette: 17 April 1945:
"In recognition of gallant and distinguished service in Italy."

The following is taken from the official recommendation:

"This officer has throughout the campaign distinguished himself by his courage and tenacity in his duties with forward troops and in gun areas. He has done duty as forward observation officer in all the major battles of the Fifth Army up to May and was again forward observation officer during the Cassino battle, where he accompanied the Canadian infantry in the breaking of the Hitler line.

On more than one occasion he has been responsible for the breaking up of enemy counter-attacks and his manner in handling the fire of the regiment is outstanding in its speed and accuracy.

Under fire he invariably displays great coolness and courage which is of the utmost value to his men and he is in all branches of his activities a very outstanding troop commander."

Mentioned in Despatches (Italy): London Gazette: 11 January 1945.

RICHARD GEORGE CORSER was born in 1920. He was educated at Millmead, Shrewsbury and Malvern College where he joined the O.T.C.. On leaving school he was articled to the family firm of Solicitors in Shrewsbury, and prior to the outbreak of war he joined the Shropshire Territorial. When called up he was commissioned into the Shropshire R.H.A. and served with the British Expeditionary Force in France, North Africa, Italy and Germany. He attained the rank of Captain while serving with the British Army of the Rhine and in late 1945 contracted an illness which caused him to be invalided home. He never fully recovered and died in May 1949; his ashes were interred in the family grave at Bourton-on-the-Water, Gloucestershire.

The lot is offered with following documentation:
Forwarding slip for the Military Cross;

Military Cross: London Gazette: 12 April 1945:

“For gallant and distinguished service in North West Europe.”

The following is taken from the original M.C. recommendation (P.R.O. WO 373/53):

“During the attack on Paarlo on 29 January 1945, Lieutenant Maxwell was leading his Platoon when a heavy artillery concentration fell on and near the Platoon killing and wounding several men.

The attack was in danger of losing momentum but this Officer, showing powers of leadership of the highest order, controlled his men with great skill and kept up the advance. During the night another Platoon of the Company was counter attacked and partially overrun. An attempt to restore the position with another Platoon failed but Lieutenant Maxwell repeatedly asked to be allowed to lead another attempt; this request was eventually granted.

This Officer then led two of his Sections across bullet swept ground with great dash and determination and succeeded in contacting the Platoon who had been holding out in some buildings.

Showing no regard for his own safety he led his section in the difficult job of clearing the enemy out of the buildings, inflicting many casualties and causing the remainder to withdraw.

By his marvellous example and offensive spirit this Officer was responsible for the relief of the platoon and the restoration of the situation.”

ROBERT MAXWELL was born Ján Ludvík Hoch on 10 June 1923 in the small town of Slatinské Doly in Carpathian Ruthenia, the easternmost province of pre-war Czechoslovakia. He was one of nine children born into a poor Yiddish-speaking Jewish family. In 1939 the area was reclaimed by Hungary. Most of his family were killed after Hungary was occupied by Germany in 1944 but he escaped and arrived in England via France in 1940 as a refugee. In 1941 he joined the Pioneer Corps, transferring to the North Staffordshire Regiment in 1943. He fought across Europe from the Normandy landings to the capture of Berlin. His intelligence and gift for languages earned him a commission in the last year of the war with the Queen’s Royal Regiment. During this period he adopted the name ‘Robert Maxwell’.
After the war he worked as a newspaper censor for the British Military Command in Berlin during the Allied Occupation. Later he used various contacts to make a start in the publishing business, becoming British and United States distributor for Springer Verlag (a publisher of scientific books). In 1951 he bought from them Pergamon Press Ltd., then a small company specialising in textbooks, and went into publishing in his own right. He rapidly built the firm into a major publishing house and by the 1960s he had become immensely wealthy, whilst still espousing publicly the Socialist principles of his youth.

In 1964 he was elected Labour MP for Buckingham, holding the seat until his defeat in 1970. In July 1984, he acquired Mirror Group Newspapers from Reed International plc. The acquisition gave him control of a huge publishing and media empire.

Robert Maxwell also became well-known as the Chairman of Oxford United Football Club, saving them from bankruptcy and helping to lead them briefly to the top flight of English football, including victory in the League Cup Final of 1986.

By 1991 his business interests were heavily in debt. On 5 November 1991 he disappeared and was presumed to have fallen overboard accidentally from his luxury yacht, the Lady Ghislaine, which was cruising off the Canary Islands; his body was subsequently recovered from the Atlantic Ocean. The Coroner's verdict was 'death by accidental drowning' and on 10 November his funeral took place on the Mount of Olives, Jerusalem. The ceremony had all the trappings of a State occasion, attended by the country's Government and Opposition leaders. No fewer than six serving and former heads of Israeli intelligence listened as Prime Minister Shamir eulogised: "He has done more for Israel than can today be said."

The lot also includes the following related commemorative and presentation items:

- State of Israel 25th Anniversary Gold Medal, 1973, in 22 carat gold, wt. 29.94g, in wooden case of issue;
- State of Israel 40th Anniversary 'Gold' Medal, 1988, in bronze-gilt (the medal and the plaque on the lid of its wooden box inscribed Presented to Robert Maxwell for Exemplary Service to Israel and the Jewish People / State of Israel Bonds June 5, 1988);
- 700th Anniversary of the Sedmset Let Staronove Synagogue, Czechoslovakia, 1990, bronze medal, in case of issue;
- A cased presentation medal of the International Men and Women for Peace Movement, in gold and enamels, reverse engraved To Robert Maxwell 1990, 18 ct. fine, wt. 18g (approx.);
- A cased set of 5 presentation gold medals, by Berkowitsch of Zurich, commemorating events in Robert Maxwell's life, 18 ct. fine, total wt. 38.64g

This lot comprises the great majority of items sold as lot 613 in the auction of The Contents of Headington Hill Hall... The Home of the late Robert Maxwell, Sotheby's, 14 January 1993. The sale was conducted by direction of the Joint Court-appointed Receiver to the Estate of the late Robert Maxwell and the medals have remained in a private collection since being purchased at the auction (a copy of the sale catalogue is included in the lot).

Conditions of Business for Buyers

1. Introduction
(a) The contractual relationship of Morton & Eden Ltd. and Sellers with prospective Buyers is governed by:-
(i) these Conditions of Business for Buyers;
(ii) the Conditions of Business for Sellers displayed in the saleroom and available from Morton & Eden Ltd.;
(iii) Morton & Eden Ltd.’s Authenticity Guarantee;
(iv) any additional notices and terms printed in the sale catalogue, in each case as amended by any saleroom notice or auctioneer’s announcement.

(b) As auctioneer, Morton & Eden Ltd. acts as agent for the Seller. Occasionally, Morton & Eden Ltd. may own or have a financial interest in a lot.

2. Definitions
"Bidder" is any person making, attempting or considering making a bid, including Buyers;
"Buyer" is the person who makes the highest bid or offer accepted by the auctioneer, including a Buyer’s principal when bidding as agent;
"Seller" is the person offering a lot for sale, including their agent, or executors;
"M&E" means Morton & Eden Ltd., auctioneers, 45 Maddox Street, London W1S 2PE, company number 4198353.
"Buyer’s Expenses" are any costs or expenses due to Morton & Eden Ltd. from the Buyer;
"Buyer’s Premium" is the commission payable by the Buyer on the Hammer Price at the rates set out in the Guide for Prospective Buyers;
"Hammer Price" is the highest bid for the Property accepted by the auctioneer at the auction or the post auction sale price;
"Purchase Price" is the Hammer Price plus applicable Buyer’s Premium and Buyer’s Expenses;
"Reserve Price" (where applicable) is the minimum Hammer Price at which the Seller has agreed to sell a lot.

The Buyer’s Premium, Buyer’s Expenses and Hammer Price are subject to VAT, where applicable.

3. Examination of Lots
(a) M&E’s knowledge of lots is partly dependent on information provided by the Seller and M&E is unable to exercise exhaustive due diligence on each lot. Each lot is available for examination before sale. Bidders are responsible for carrying out examinations and research before sale to satisfy themselves over the condition of lots and accuracy of descriptions.

(b) All oral and/or written information provided to Bidders relating to lots, including descriptions in the catalogue, condition reports or elsewhere are statements of M&E’s opinion and not representations of fact. Estimates may not be relied on as a prediction of the selling price or value of the lot and may be revised from time to time at M&E’s absolute discretion.

4. Exclusions and limitations of liability to Buyers
(a) M&E shall refund the Purchase Price to the Buyer in circumstances where it deems that the lot is a Counterfeit, subject to the terms of M&E’s Authenticity Guarantee.

(b) Subject to Condition 4(a), neither M&E nor the Seller:-
(i) is liable for any errors or omissions in any oral or written information provided to Bidders by M&E, whether negligent or otherwise;
(ii) gives any guarantee or warranty to Bidders and any implied warranties and conditions are excluded (save in so far as such obligations cannot be excluded by English law), other than the express warranties given by the Seller to the Buyer (for which the Seller is solely responsible) under the Conditions of Business for Sellers;
(iii) accepts responsibility to Bidders for acts or omissions (whether negligent or otherwise) by M&E in connection with the conduct of auctions or for any matter relating to the sale of any lot.

(c) Without prejudice to Condition 4(b), any claim against M&E and/or the Seller by a Bidder is limited to the Purchase Price for the relevant lot. Neither M&E nor the Seller shall be liable for any indirect or consequential losses.

(d) Nothing in Condition 4 shall exclude or limit the liability of M&E or the Seller for death or personal injury caused by the negligent acts or omissions of M&E or the Seller.

5. Bidding at Auction
(a) M&E has absolute discretion to refuse admission to the auction. Before sale, Bidders must complete a Registration Form and supply such information and references as M&E requires. Bidders are personally liable for their bid and are jointly and severally liable with their principal, if bidding as agent (in which case M&E’s prior and express consent must be obtained).

(b) M&E advises Bidders to attend the auction, but M&E will endeavour to execute absentee written bids provided that they are, in M&E’s opinion, received in sufficient time and in legible form.

(c) When available, written and telephone bidding is offered as a free service at the Bidder’s risk and subject to M&E’s other commitments; M&E is therefore not liable for failure to execute such bids. Telephone bidding may be recorded.

6. Import, Export and Copyright Restrictions
M&E and the Seller make no representations or warranties as to whether any lot is subject to import, export or copyright restrictions. It is the Buyer’s sole responsibility to obtain any copyright clearance or any necessary import, export or other licence required by law, including licenses required under the Convention on the International Trade in Endangered Species (CITES).

7. Conduct of the Auction
(a) The auctioneer has discretion to refuse bids, withdraw or re-offer lots for sale (including after the fall of the hammer) if (s)he believes that there may be an error or dispute, and may also take such other action as (s)he reasonably deems necessary.

(b) The auctioneer will commence and advance the bidding in such increments as (s)he considers appropriate and is entitled to place bids on the Seller’s behalf up to the Reserve Price for the lot, where applicable.

(c) Subject to Condition 7(a), the contract between the Buyer and the Seller is concluded on the striking of the auctioneer’s hammer.

(d) Any post-auction sale of lots shall incorporate these Conditions of Business.

8. Payment and Collection
(a) Unless otherwise agreed in advance, payment of the Purchase Price is due in pounds sterling immediately after the auction (the “Payment Date”).

(b) Title in a lot will not pass to the Buyer until M&E has received the Purchase Price in cleared funds. M&E will generally not release a lot to a Buyer before payment. Earlier release shall not affect passing of title or the Buyer’s obligation to pay the Purchase Price, as above.

(c) The refusal of any licence or permit required by law, as outlined in Condition 6, shall not affect the Buyer’s obligation to pay for the lot, as per Condition 8(a).

(d) The Buyer must arrange collection of lots within 10 working days of the auction. Purchased lots are at the Buyer's risk from the earlier of (i) collection or (ii) 10 working days after the auction. Until risk passes, M&E will compensate the Buyer for any loss or damage to the lot up to a maximum of the Purchase Price actually paid by the Buyer. M&E’s assumption of risk is subject to the exclusions detailed in Condition 5(d) of the Conditions of Business for Sellers.

(e) All packing and handling of lots is at the Buyer's risk. M&E will not be liable for any acts or omissions of third party packers or shippers.

9. Remedies for non-payment
Without prejudice to any rights that the Seller may have, if the Buyer without prior agreement fails to make payment for the lot within 5 working days of the auction, M&E may in its sole discretion exercise 1 or more of the following remedies:-

(a) store the lot at its premises or elsewhere at the Buyer’s sole risk and expense;

(b) cancel the sale of the lot;

(c) set off any amounts owed to the Buyer by M&E against any amounts owed to M&E by the Buyer for the lot;
(d) reject future bids from the Buyer;
(e) charge interest at 4% per annum above Lloyds TSB Bank plc Base Rate from the Payment Date to the date that the Purchase Price is received in cleared funds;
(f) re-sell the lot by auction or privately, with estimates and reserves at M&E’s discretion, in which case the Buyer will be liable for any shortfall between the original Purchase Price and the amount achieved on re-sale, including all costs incurred in such re-sale;
(g) exercise a lien over any Buyer’s Property in M&E’s possession, applying the sale proceeds to any amounts owed by the Buyer to M&E. M&E shall give the Buyer 14 days written notice before exercising such lien;
(h) commence legal proceedings to recover the Purchase Price for the lot, plus interest and legal costs;
(i) disclose the Buyer’s details to the Seller to enable the Seller to commence legal proceedings.

10. Failure to collect purchases
(a) If the Buyer pays the Purchase Price but does not collect the lot within 20 working days of the auction, the lot will be stored at the Buyer’s expense and risk at M&E’s premises or in independent storage.
(b) If a lot is paid for but uncollected within 6 months of the auction, following 60 days written notice to the Buyer, M&E will re-sell the lot by auction or privately, with estimates and reserves at M&E’s discretion. The sale proceeds, less all M&E’s costs, will be forfeited unless collected by the Buyer within 2 years of the original auction.

11. Data Protection
(a) M&E will use information supplied by Bidders or otherwise obtained lawfully by M&E for the provision of auction related services, client administration, marketing and as otherwise required by law.
(b) By agreeing to these Conditions of Business, the Bidder agrees to the processing of their personal information and to the disclosure of such information to third parties world-wide for the purposes outlined in Condition 11(a) and to Sellers as per Condition 9(i).

12. Miscellaneous
(a) All images of lots, catalogue descriptions and all other materials produced by M&E are the copyright of M&E.
(b) These Conditions of Business are not assignable by any Buyer without M&E’s prior written consent, but are binding on Bidders’ successors, assigns and representatives.
(c) The materials listed in Condition 11(a) set out the entire agreement between the parties.
(d) If any part of these Conditions of Business be held unenforceable, the remaining parts shall remain in full force and effect.
(e) These Conditions of Business shall be interpreted in accordance with English Law, under the exclusive jurisdiction of the English Courts, in favour of M&E.

Morton & Eden Ltd.’s Authenticity Guarantee

If Morton & Eden Ltd. sells an item of Property which is later shown to be a “Counterfeit”, subject to the terms below Morton & Eden Ltd. will rescind the sale and refund the Buyer the total amount paid by the Buyer to Morton & Eden Ltd. for that Property, up to a maximum of the Purchase Price.

The Guarantee lasts for two (2) years after the date of the relevant auction, is for the benefit of the Buyer only and is non-transferable.

“Counterfeit” means an item of Property that in Morton & Eden Ltd.’s reasonable opinion is an imitation created with the intent to deceive over the authorship, origin, date, age, period, culture or source, where the correct description of such matters is not included in the catalogue description for the Property.

Property shall not be considered Counterfeit solely because of any damage and/or restoration and/or modification work (including, but not limited to, traces of mounting, tooling or repatinating).

Please note that this Guarantee does not apply if either:-

(i) the catalogue description was in accordance with the generally accepted opinions of scholars and experts at the date of the sale, or the catalogue description indicated that there was a conflict of such opinions; or
(ii) the only method of establishing at the date of the sale that the item was a Counterfeit would have been by means of processes not then generally available or accepted, unreasonably expensive or impractical; or likely to have caused damage to or loss in value to the Property (in Morton & Eden Ltd.’s reasonable opinion); or
(iii) there has been no material loss in value of the Property from its value had it accorded with its catalogue description.

To claim under this Guarantee, the Buyer must:-

(i) notify Morton & Eden Ltd. in writing within one (1) month of receiving any information that causes the Buyer to question the authenticity or attribution of the Property, specifying the lot number, date of the auction at which it was purchased and the reasons why it is believed to be Counterfeit; and
(ii) return the Property to Morton & Eden Ltd. in the same condition as at the date of sale and be able to transfer good title in the Property, free from any third party claims arising after the date of the sale.

Morton & Eden Ltd. has discretion to waive any of the above requirements. Morton & Eden Ltd. may require the Buyer to obtain at the Buyer's cost the reports of two independent and recognised experts in the relevant field and acceptable to Morton & Eden Ltd. Morton & Eden Ltd. shall not be bound by any reports produced by the Buyer, and reserves the right to seek additional expert advice at its own expense. In the event Morton & Eden Ltd. decides to rescind the sale under this Guarantee, it may refund to the Buyer the reasonable costs of up to two mutually approved independent expert reports, provided always that the costs of such reports have been approved in advance and in writing by Morton & Eden Ltd.

Important
Please bid on my behalf at the above sale for the following Lot(s) up to the hammer price(s) mentioned below. These bids are to be executed as cheaply as is permitted by other bids or reserves and in an amount up to but not exceeding the specified amount. The auctioneer may open the bidding on any lot by placing a bid on behalf of the seller. The auctioneer may further bid on behalf of the seller up to the amount of the reserve by placing responsive or consecutive bids for a lot.

I agree to be bound by Morton & Eden’s Conditions of Business. If any bid is successful, I agree to pay a buyer’s premium on the hammer price at the rate stated in the front of the catalogue and any VAT, or amounts in lieu of VAT, which may be due on the buyer’s premium and the hammer price.
